Original

- Jahseh Dwayne Ricardo Onfroy
- Born January 23, 1998
- Urban upbringing in Lauderhill, Florida
- Got into music from a young age
- Emo / Trap / Trap Metal, Nu Metal, Indie rock, Lo-fi, Hip-hop, and many more...
- Gained a very strong very committed cult following through depression-, alienation- and suicide-themed music
- Very clear branding projected onto the fans
- One of the original SoundCloud-rappers to make it to the billboard charts
- Fans started dressing like X, moving like X, breathing like X
- First main stream attention came with single 'Look at me!' which later became the name of his biopic docu after his death.
- Died by gunshot wounds during a robbery on June 18, 2018. Although many believe till this day it was a hit.
- Became the subject of controversy numerous times. He has been incarcerated on multiple occasions.
- Today his brand and his art lives true through the fanbase

WHY DID THIS BRANDING WORK SO WELL?

Like we mentioned before, the moment X became relevant 2016-2018 was the absolute peak time to be on Soundcloud. Others like late Lil Peep and Juice WRLD accumulated their first fans through the platform and other giants like Lil Uzi Vert, Post Malone, Playboy Carti and many more have found their foundation on the platform.

We know emo, and gothic as a subculture. These types of lyrics, subjects and thematics that artists like X and Peep were bringing, resonated with a lot of people back in those days. For those who weren't into mainstream metal or rock, hip hop and all its subgenres served as a sanctuary.

This type of lifestyle and branding didn't stay in that era, on the contrary they remain very strongly embedded in today's subcultures. A great example of this is $uicideboy$ (my personal favorite) who use this same type of fonts, atmosphere and colors with their own identity.

ORIGINAL MOOD AND PALETTE

Ninety percent of the original color palette consisted of black, white, gray and red. Heavy contrasts for heavy feelings.

With album and song covers that always had a certain type of ambiguity, scribbles, question marks, and lots of darkness, we wanted to throw it completely to the other side, as you will come to see in the coming slide

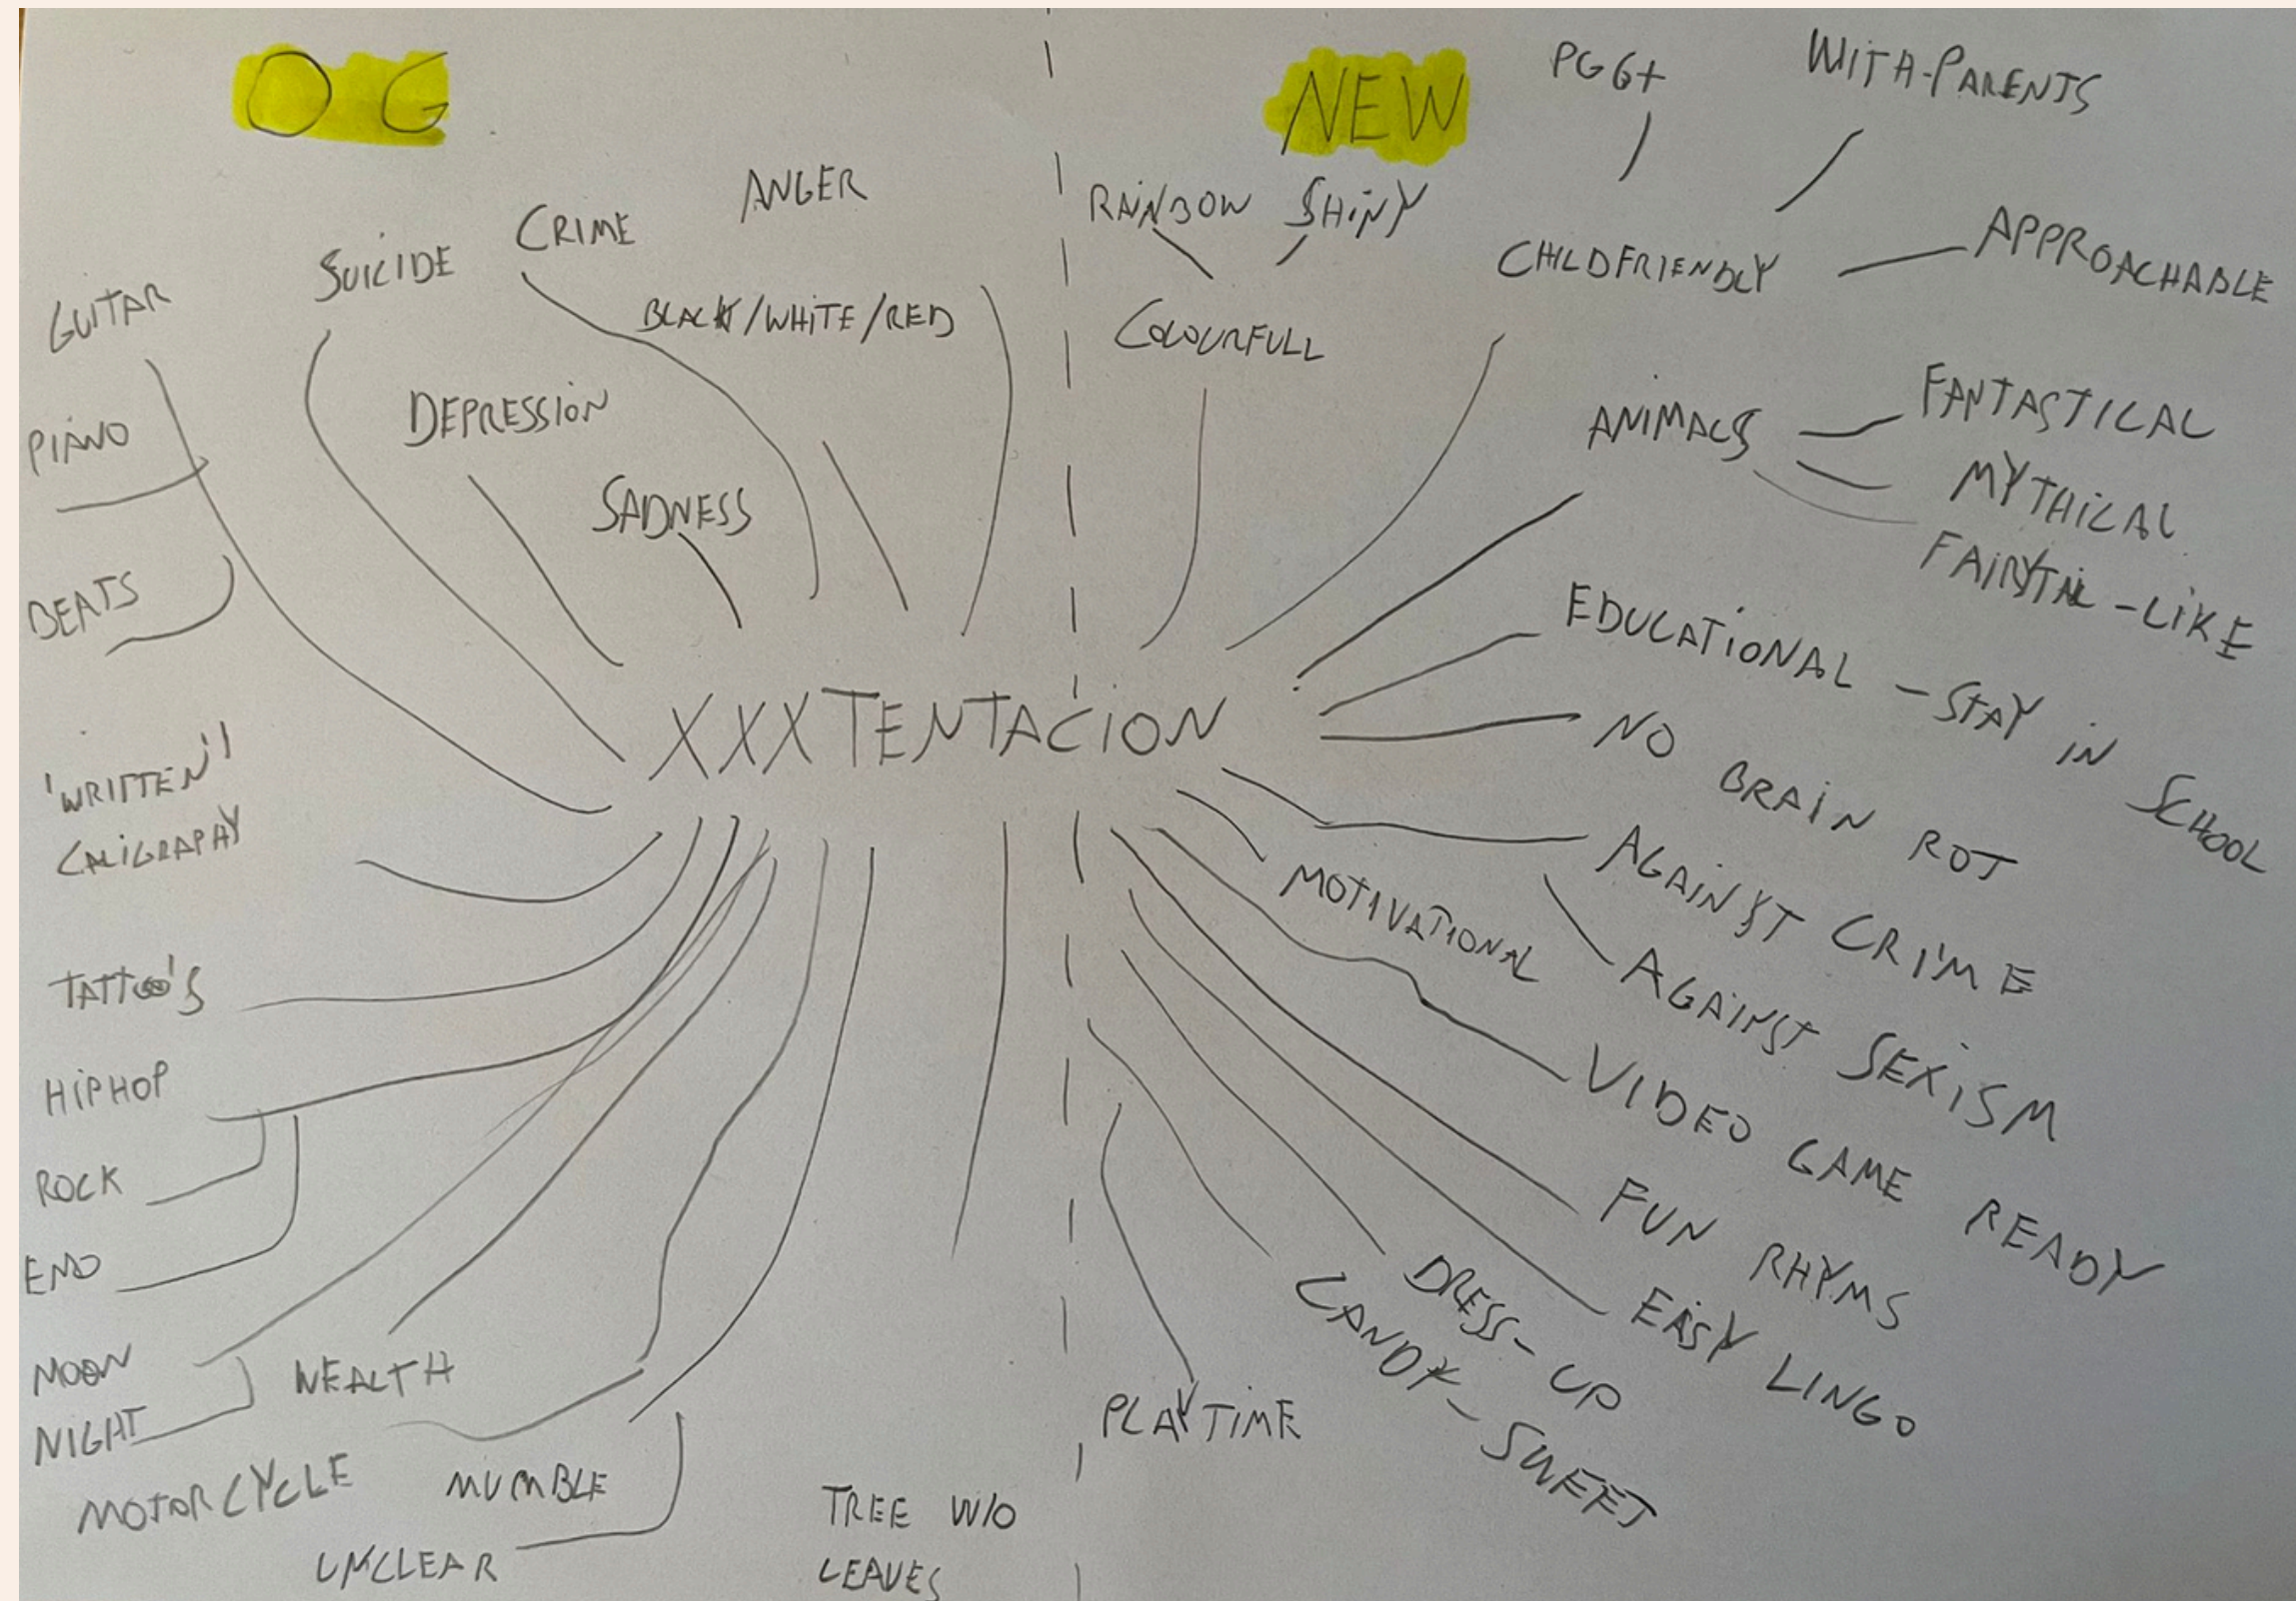

ORIGINAL BRANDING

Brainstorm with a clear line between original and 'parallel.' ideas

Re-brand

With Jahseh's troubled past and theme's we now know more about.

We came to the idea of X making kids' songs. Educational and motivational lyrics in opposite of aggression, patronizing women, ...

What if a young man with his magnitude of influence on his fanbase and a history of crime leaned to a life of explaining what's right and wrong to kids who sometimes don't have a parent that does that for them.

Logo's

We know its a little 'over the top' but:

- brings bright and inclusive colours
- Stay true to the original with the black & white gradient X's
- connection to animals and nature & their importance
- works in black and white although this is less our USP
- We wanted warm, friendly, optimistic, safe
- Invoke curiosity, joy, calm and imagination
- for audiences of kids and adults as their gatekeepers
- A tone of reassurance, playfulness, and non-threatening

(Black & White)

Color Palette

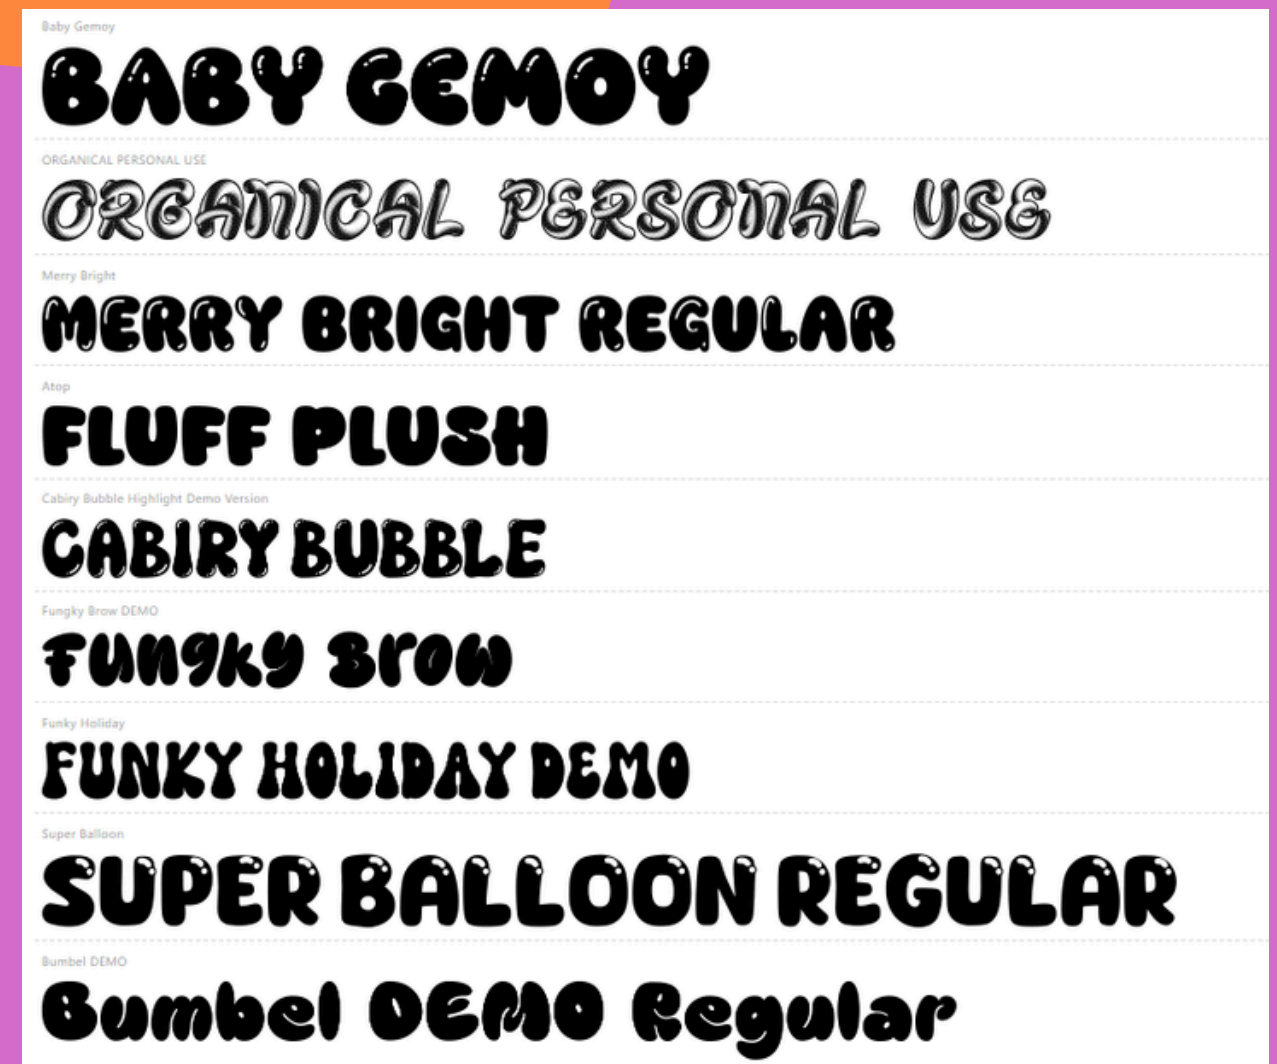

Although our palette will know many variations, the warmth this example brings will always be a point of departure.

Fonts

Anything that has a certain balloon, certain playfulness to it can be used.
